Tutoring Experience

For the past five years, I've tutored students from various curriculums, including IB and A-Level Chemistry. My experience includes helping students strengthen their understanding of chemistry concepts while preparing for rigorous exams. My students have achieved exceptional results, gaining a solid foundation for further studies.

I've also worked with high school students preparing for AP and IGCSE exams, guiding them through advanced chemistry topics. My goal is to support students in mastering the subject and developing a strong analytical mindset that will benefit them beyond their academic journey.
